Five of the best places to get a sandwich in Glasgow

Cherry & Heather Fine Food

Where: 7 North Gower Street, Glasgow G51 1PW Scotland

A small takeaway providing unusual sandwiches such as Indonesian bumbu kecap kaffir lime and lemongrass chicken. All the bread used is made locally, the meat is Scottish, and the vegetables are sourced from nearby.

Trip Advisor rating: 4.5

Review: "This little deli I have been using for years - amazing fresh flavours. I especially like the kaffir lime sandwich and noddle pot - a Gem :)"

Soup's On and the Cake Lady

Where: 115 Clarkston Road, Glasgow G44 3BL Scotland

A Liverpudlian and a Glaswegian couple serve locals with a very wide selection of unusual sandwiches, prepared and baked fresh daily.

Trip Advisor rating: 5

Review: “Bombay roast potatoes on a sandwich are the work of genius and the various incarnations of rocky road are well worth another year in elasticated waistbands! Great food and great service, all run by a lovely couple - cannot recommend highly enough!”

Rawlings - Love to Eat

Where: 583 Mosspark Boulevard, Glasgow G52 1SB Scotland

A modern Scottish café and bistro offering artisan bakery, treats and sandwiches to locals. As well as selling a great variety of Scottish food they also offer a good selection of vegetarian food.

Trip Advisor rating: 5

Review: “We had a lovely birthday lunch, we ordered one of each of the specials. The black pudding sunblushed tomato and cheese grilled sandwich was delicious and we finished off with a tasty almond slice and perfect meringues”

The Wilson Street Pantry

Where: 6 Wilson Street, Glasgow G1 1SS Scotland

A laid-back atmosphere is found at Wilson Street Pantry, offering brunch to the city’s customers seven days a week. They offer a good section of sandwiches, and all food is freshly made to order.

Trip Advisor rating: 4.5

Review: “Cheers! What a delightful place to get lunch! We decided for the avocado, feta, hummus Sandwich with tomato and red pepper soup. Mucho deliciosa! Very good for your tummy! See you later!”

Meat bar

Where: 142 West Regent Street, Glasgow G2 2RQ Scotland

A restaurant turn late-night bar offers many scrumptious and “dirty” burgers, sandwiches and stakes, all paired with an alcoholic drink.

Trip Advisor rating: 4.5

Review: “I got the chargrilled chicken sandwich and fries while my friend got the steak frite with bourbon sauce, absolutely delightful and never fails to satisfy.”
